

Disability Awareness Program

Would you like to raise awareness about your child's disability?

Grandview's Disability Awareness Program is a free service available to schools, daycares and community groups in Durham Region to enhance awareness about differences, while advocating acceptance and inclusion.

Our Disability Awareness Program presenters Andrea Belanger and Marshall Hohmann are available to work with parents/guardians to develop a customized, positive presentation that focuses on valuing differences. General presentations tailored to various age groups to raise awareness on a variety of disabilities can also be arranged. Parents/guardians, principals, teachers and staff can request a presentation.

Grandview's Disability Awareness Program is generously supported by Scotia Bank.

To request a presentation, contact:
